

The Kennel Club International Agility Festival 2012

Visitors and competitors for the European Open 2012 can choose between a range of types of accommodation at different price levels.

Camping on-site at the Festival

Perhaps the easiest, and least expensive, is the on-site camping which will surround the competition rings. There will be room for an estimated 750 units (caravans, RVs, tents and trailer tents). Camping for the weekend (Thursday 9 August through to Monday am 13 August) will cost £45.00 Booking forms are included with the entry forms available with the show schedule. Groups wishing to camp together will be able to request up to six spaces to be allocated - provided full and accurate information is provided on each group member's camping booking form.

Other accommodation

We have compiled a selection of suggestions for alternative camping sites, guest houses/bed and breakfast establishments and hotels in the countryside surrounding Kelmarsh Hall, home of the European Open Agility Championships 2012.

These are provided for convenience only and are not necessarily recommended as they have not been inspected by the Kennel Club. (Omission from this selection does not in any way imply that the establishment concerned is unsuitable or inferior to those in our selection).
