

Mr N Doran

Although born in the countryside, I came to the world of field sports quite late in life as I concentrated on my career until the age of 33, until a chance meeting with a cousin of mine and his field sporting friends.

It wasn't long until I was fully involved in Labrador training and rough shooting. After a few years I started competing in the local Gundog Working Test and Field Trial scene.

I have made up two Irish Field Trial Champions and have competed extensively both in the North and the South of Ireland.

In recent years I have been competing with limited success as we all know good dogs are hard to replace. I have served on the Irish Field Trial Championship Committee for a number of years and as an A Panel Judge in the South of Ireland I have also judged the Irish Championship.

Currently I am Secretary of the Craigavon Gundog Club. I continue to do a bit of rough shooting, mainly pigeons, snipe and the odd woodcock.
