

Roddy is 52, married with 2 grown-up children. He is sporting manager on an estate in the Scottish Highlands. Roddy started training gundogs in 1980, and won his first field trial in 1983. He has been an 'A' panel judge since 1992; in 1987 he was co-founder of the Moray Firth Spaniel and Retriever Club. Roddy has judged the IGL Retriever Championship on 3 occasions. In 1997 with two gamekeeper friends he started the Scottish Gamekeepers Association and was also there first chairman. When not training his dogs, Roddy enjoys Salmon fishing and Clay Pigeon Shooting.

