On return points should be deducted at the judge's discretion and if stay times are reduced the marks should be adjusted accordingly.

Clarification on the Stay exercise - Minor movements such as a dog moving a foot or sniffing the ground, does not constitute a broken stay. However, should the dog move out of the position required by the judge, it should be considered to have broken the stay and should be marked accordingly. Any further action such as the dog returning to its original position, leaving the ring or interfering with another dog should not result in any amendment to the number of marks deducted at the point at which the position changed and the stay broken.
