

Joanne Hudson

I am delighted to be elected as a member of the Agility Liaison Council for the North East region, and look forward to representing the views of my local Agility community.

I have been involved with agility for just over five years. I compete across the North East and occasionally a bit further afield. I took my judging exams in November 2011, and have judged regularly since. I am also Chairman of South Durham Dog Agility Club.

I currently compete with my three crossbreeds (cockapoos), one in large and two in small. We've made through the grades as far as grades 5 and 7.

My day job is a civil servant, so I am well used to travel, meetings and collaborative working. I hope to bring some of my professional skills into my time on the ALC.
